WIVC
WEST INDIES VETERINARY CONFERENCE

SAVE THE DATE
NOVEMBER 4TH –11TH 2017

Mark your calendars to return to the beautiful island of St. Kitts for the 2017 West Indies Veterinary Conference. Sessions to include topics such as Small Animal/Pocket Pets, Exotics, Equine, Production Animals, and Business Management & Wellness in the profession.

TOPICS INCLUDE:
- Pocket pets and exotics
- Small animal medicine & diagnostic imaging
- Equine medicine, rehabilitation & diagnostic imaging
- Bovine (dairy) health, reproduction & economics
- Wellness
- Veterinary business and management

SPEAKERS:
- Dr. Mark Stetter—Dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences at CSU: Keynote speaker
- Dr. David Bartram—Wellness in the Profession
- Dr. Sydney Moise—Small Animal Ultrasound Techniques and Cardiology
- Dr. Mary Anna Thrall—Small Animal Clinical Pathology
- Dr. Don Thrall—Small Animal Diagnostic Imaging
- Dr. Michael Podell—Small Animal Neurology
- Dr. Katherine Choppe and Dr. Jose Garcia—Equine Sports Medicine and Diagnostic Imaging
- Dr. Fairfield Bain—Equine Medicine
- Dr. Julio Giordano and Dr. Klibs Galvão—Bovine (dairy) Health, Reproduction and Economics
- Dr. Jim Flanders—Small Animal Surgery
- Dr. John Anastasio—Emergency and Critical Care
- And more…

VISIT: VETERINARY.ROSSU.EDU

Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine's DVM degree program is accredited by the American Veterinary Medical Association Council on Education (AVMA COE). 1931 N. Meacham Road, Suite 100, Schaumburg, IL 60173 Tel: 847.248.2862 Email: MMarcis@avma.org

Important information about the educational debt, earnings, and completion rates of students who attended this program can be found at veterinary.rossu.edu/gainful-employment. ©2017 Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine. All rights reserved.